Rehan School – Making Problem Solvers of Tomorrow

Step inside the Rehan School Korangi campus in Karachi, Pakistan, and experience a journey of innovation and empowerment. Explore the school's modern facilities, pioneering educational methods, and inspiring atmosphere that fosters creativity and entrepreneurship in students.

At Rehan School, we embrace a transformative approach to education with our motto: "No Pen, No Book."

In our innovative learning environment, students harness the power of technology, utilizing laptops and smartphones as their primary tools for education.

At Rehan School, we align with Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), integrating TEDx videos to spark critical thinking. Our students actively shape their learning journey, creating educational videos that they share on social media. This hands-on approach not only deepens understanding but also enriches the broader educational dialogue. Join us in fostering creativity, innovation, and meaningful impact!

At Rehan School, Rehan Allahwala has introduced the "wala" and "wali" concepts. Students align their names with their assigned Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), replacing their last names accordingly. This unique practice not only personalizes their connection to specific SDGs but also fosters a sense of commitment to addressing societal and environmental challenges through their chosen professions.

Explore creativity in our cutting-edge podcast rooms at Rehan School—introducing Studio Diamond and Studio Platinum. Empower students to amplify their voices, conduct insightful interviews, and build confidence through engaging podcast sessions in these state-of-the-art facilities.

Rehan School's Korangi campus proudly unveils a unique learning space—a meticulously replicated United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) room. This innovative environment empowers students to delve into real-world conflict resolution scenarios, utilizing the influential tool of social media. Through engaging with global peers, students partake in meaningful conversations, cultivating a profound understanding of diverse perspectives. The UNGA replica at Rehan School serves as a dynamic hub, where students actively contribute to the global discourse on conflict resolution.

Step into the future of education at Rehan School's Korangi campus, where the replicated UNGA room comes to life. Immerse yourself in an environment that goes beyond traditional learning, fostering a hands-on approach to global issues. Through social media connections, students not only learn about conflict resolution but actively shape the narrative, making a real impact on the world stage. Join us in this dynamic space, where education meets real-world engagement.

At the Rehan School Korangi campus, there is a dedicated focus on nurturing not only academic excellence but also equipping students with essential soft skills crucial for their professional development. The curriculum goes beyond traditional subjects, incorporating practical and contemporary skills like graphic design, video editing, coding, and Canva proficiency. By integrating these skills into the educational framework, students are empowered to navigate the increasingly digital landscape with confidence.

At Rehan School Korangi, students not only acquire essential skills like graphic design, video editing, and coding but also gain practical knowledge on platforms such as Fiverr, Upwork, and YouTube. This dual focus not only equips students to monetize their skills but also instills entrepreneurial thinking. Exposure to these online platforms prepares students for the job market and inspires them to explore freelancing globally. This holistic approach ensures that graduates possess both theoretical knowledge and practical skills, ready for success in today's professional landscape.
